REVIEW PROPOSED AMENDMENTS FOR
THE INTERNATIONAL FUEL GAS CODE
401 GENERAL

Those present reviewed the proposal for 401.9 of the IFGC. Following a discussion by those present, it was agreed that the amendment should be modified as follows: "Fuel gas services shall be in an approved location and/or provided with structures designed to protect the fuel gas meter and surrounding piping from physical damage, including falling, moving, or migrating ice and snow. If an added structure is used, it must provide access for service and comply with the IBC or the IRC."

A motion unanimously passed to forward the proposed amendment as modified on to the November public hearing and to add the same wording in the IRC as a new section G2401.2.

402.1 GENERAL CONSIDERATION

The proposed amendment was reviewed by those present and following the discussion, a motion unanimously passed to deny the proposal.

He was asking for clarification on what this committee needed to do in order to resubmit the proposal. The proposal needs to be resubmitted for the 2006 edition of the International Energy Conservation Code.
